FIN. NICE AND COMMERCE.

Monetary. Wassington', Saturday Evening, July 10.

The business in D. strict securities at the New York and Washington, stock boards during the week has been as light as might reasonably be expected in these dull and heated days, but the market has been characterized by greater strength and steadiness than is usually "becase with newly and steadiness than its usually "becase with newly and steadiness than its usually "becase with newly and stead the second stead of the second sec market has been characterise and steadiness than is usually "becase with newly introduced securities, which, as "rate, meet the fate of being classed among the fater stocks by the great operators. It is difficult to get at the extent of the private transactions or the prices made, as oyster-mouthed by ere and sellows think it more prudent to be quiet. As this is most important in weighing the strength of the books, a little effort on the part of the great holders, why demand 75 or no sale, has caused the fact to transpire that several hundred thousand we changed hands during the week at prices fanging from 135,07734, and that the bonds are radically strong. As the demand is scarcely up to the supply of bonds long in the market and the tri-weekly issues of the staking tund commissioners, which generally are at once offered in small lots and at low rates by parties converting certificates, the only worder is that there has not been a break in the market. But they have exhibited remarkable strength, all things considered, and are rapidly taking their place among Governments as to salability. salability.

We may expect, from general appearances, a more active and higher market in a few weeks.

Messrs. Sherman & Frant, No. 1225 F street, quote the following buying and selling rates for Governments, gold, &c.:

Money closed lower and easy at 2 per cent. Foreign exchange quiet and steady at 457 for time bills and 450 for demand. Government bonds firm.

The following closing rates were telegraphed to Mesers. H. D. Cooke, jr. & Co. from the New York Stock Exchange:

"Stocks are firm, and show a good undertone.

"In the most active stocks would be a powerful agent in the hands of the bulls in bringing an active and rising market.

"E our country is richer to-day than before the memorable panic of 1873, as we owe less as a nation than then, and our reserves being larger, speculative values must feel its beneficial effects, as well as business generally. The celebration of Independence Day and reses at Long Branch have made the week very dull, the Exchange at times being almost described. State and railroad bonds show but slight variations from last week. Of the former Tennessee bonds are atrong, and the most active of the latter have been the Facilie railroad securities, which show a decline of about one per cent since the payment of the July interest."

The statement of the New York associated banks shows a lose of $1.185,255 in legal reserve, reducing the excess which has been for several months to $24,907,200.

The sub-Tressury balances at New York to-day were: Gold, $30,010,003; currency, $33,50,111.

Commercial.

The New York Express of this afternoon publishes a comparative statement of the receipts of produce from the interior and the exports abroad since January 1, 1875, and the same time 1874. It shows that the receipts as well as the experts shows that the receipts as well as the experts were about twice as large of the art were months for list as they have been during the same-months this year. But the Express is no croaker, but an encourager to commercial men, and interprets the events of the week as indicating the creased confidence in the future and a further enhancement in values in response to the prospects of large crops throughout the country and a good export demand for our surplus grain.

The indications in regard to the fail trade are Export demand for our surplus grain.

The indications in regard to the fall trade are favorable, and business is likely to be good, with an active movement of the crops and a good trade, the railways will find full employment and the industries of the country will steadily revive.
